Dear Friend of the Library,

What does the Mountville Branch Library mean to you? Is it a reading place where you or your children first discovered a lifelong love of reading? Is it a learning place, with the books, music, video, or online databases that contribute towards your continuing education? Is it a project space with resources like computers and copiers to help with business or schoolwork? Is it a gathering space for friends to discuss a school project, meet with a book club, or read to a therapy dog? Or, even if you don't use the library yourself, do you believe our community is a better place for having such an institution in our midst, where anyone can visit at any time for any of the above reasons?

It is easy to underestimate the value of the Mountville Branch Library because it means different things to different people. But its true value is that it brings all these different groups together into one community.

There are a few simple ways you can show what the Mountville Branch Library means to you. First, use the library. The Mountville Branch offers library card holders access to information, ideas, and enriching experiences—all for free! Second, share your Library Love. Tell a friend or loved one about something cool they can do with their library card. Your stories, or testimonies are more effective than a librarian sharing what the library offers. Third, volunteer your time. When you see more than one person working in the library, the extra help is frequently a volunteer completing tasks essential to maintaining quality library service like shelving books and preparing for programs. Finally, any donation you can make to the Friends of the Mountville Branch Library will improve the resources it offers back to our residents as 100% of donations go directly to the library.

For those who've supported our efforts in the past, thank you for your generosity. Your continued support ensures our Library's continued success. For all, please consider supporting the Library—its collections, services, and programs—by making a gift today. Your gift provides access to resources and services that touch the lives of families, friends, and neighbors.

With much gratitude,

Karen Denlinger
